Tomorrow's Horse Sale

The big sale of horses announced by Livestockman Ross A. Stiver for tomorrow at his stables on West Pitt Street, Bedford, promises to be one of the biggest and best sales of this kind every held in the county.

Mr. Stiver will have from 75 to 100 horses to offer to the public at the highest bidders price. The horses are all native, having been gotten together from Bedford and adjoining counties, and every one will be guaranteed as represented by Mr. Stiver. Among the lot are some good trotters and pacers. In fact, any kind and for any purpose horse may be had at this sale, and it will pay all interested to be present. The sale starts promptly at 10 o'clock, and all should be on hand at the beginning, for usually the best bargains are to be had then.

Buggies, surries, wagons, harness, etc., also will be sold, and the indications are that a large crowd will be present. Be sure to attend as this is the clean-up sale, and the horses will be sold regardless of sacrifices that Mr. Stiver may have to make. See advertisement on page four of this paper for terms and for commissions charged for selling horses for other persons.

John B. Phillips

After an illness extending over several months, John B. Phillips passed away at his home on South Juliana Street last Sunday evening shortly after 6 o'clock. He was the son of William and Anna M. Phillips and was born December 8, 1849, being, therefore, 65 years, two months and 16 days old. His whole life was spent in Bedford County. On December 31, 1873, he was united in marriage with Sarah C. Sill, who now survives him, together with one son Charles and one grandchild. Four sisters also remain to mourn their loss—Mrs. John Henderson, Mrs. Jennie James, Mrs. Frank Walter and Mrs. Kate Mock, all of Bedford County.

On April 23, 1864, he became a member of the Reformed Church at Imletown through the solemn rite of confirmation, administered by Rev. Henry Heckerman. No man was ever more faithful to his vows of church membership than was Mr. Phillips. During fifty-one years he missed but one communion service and at that time he was snow-bound. His church was first in all of his choices. In turn his church honored him with the highest office within her gift—that of elder. At the time of his death he was an elder in St. John's Church of Bedford. He was a good citizen, an exemplary husband and father and a most faithful church member. "None knew him but to love him."

The funeral service was held at his late home Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, conducted by his pastor, Rev. J. Albert Ebyler, who was assisted by Rev. H. E. Wiand, pastor of Mrs. Phillips. Interment was made in Bedford Cemetery.

James U. Rice

James Upton Rice of Cumberland Valley died suddenly last Sunday evening while visiting his daughter, Mrs. W. S. Nicewarner in Cumberland. He was born in Cumberland May 6, 1823. In 1849 he was married to Caroline Grownen of Cumberland Valley, where they resided until Mrs. Rice's death in 1898. Two sons and two daughters survive.

The funeral service was held Wednesday morning in the Fellowship Church, Cumberland Valley. Interment was made in the church cemetery.

Two Aged Persons Die

Death claimed within three days of last week a husband and wife at Fishertown. Mrs. Margaret Miller, aged 79 years, died on Tuesday of pneumonia. Her husband, Michael S. Miller, aged 76 years, died of the same disease on Thursday, the day his wife was buried. They are survived by the following children: Mrs. Elizabeth Callahan of New Paris, and William, John and Catherine of Fishertown.

Aged Dentist Cremated

Dr. Ezra C. Blackburn, who for many years was a successful dentist of Altoona, later of Johnstown, and for the last few years of his practice at Alum Bank, was burned to death in his home at this place early Sunday morning.

The aged man was a cripple from paralysis and his helpless condition caused him to be very careless about the fire and likely prevented him from escaping when his calamity befell him.

Dr. Blackburn stopped practicing dentistry several years ago on account of a paralytic stroke, which caused him to be a cripple. For some time he had been living at Alum Bank, mostly alone. It is believed he was renewing the fire shortly after midnight Sunday morning when the accident occurred. Shortly before 2 o'clock the neighbors were aroused by hearing him cry for help, but before anyone got to his assistance he had probably been overcome and fell just outside of the back door, falling backwards into the flames while trying to escape. It is supposed that he had attempted to extinguish the fire himself before attempting to escape. At all events, before help could be secured the fire had made such progress that it was impossible to get near the building.

After the flames had died down and an abundance of water had been applied, search was made in the embers and what remained of the body was found near the rear door. It was extricated by Harry Feather, Adam Yarnal and Cress Wade and taken to the near by undertaker, J. E. Blackburn, from which place interment was made.

The body was burned to a crisp and was beyond recognition. The feet, hands and one arm were entirely burned off.

Owing to the condition of the body the funeral was held Sunday evening, with services at the grave at 5 o'clock, conducted by Rev. J. A. Garver of the B. E. Church and the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, he being a member of the organization.

Dr. Blackburn was a native of Bedford County and was about 70 years of age. He prepared himself for dentistry at the Pennsylvania Dental College, Philadelphia, from which he graduated in 1884. He practiced his profession in Altoona for about 15 years. It was while located in that place, about ten or twelve years ago, that his wife died. This was a severe blow to him and he never seemed to be the same man thereafter. He soon gave up his work in Altoona and came to Alum Bank, practicing here and at Johnstown until he suffered a paralytic stroke several years ago.

One brother, Harrison Blackburn of Alum Bank, and a sister, Mrs. Sarah Davis of Johnstown, survive. Jim.

Alum Bank, March 17, 1915.

SUPERVISORS MEET

Annual Convention Held in Court House on Tuesday of This Week.

The annual convention of the Supervisors of Bedford County was held in the Court House in Bedford on Tuesday, March 16. The meeting was called to order at 10 o'clock. The roll of Township Supervisors was called, the minutes of last meeting read, and the Association then proceeded to elect officers for the ensuing year.

The nomination for president closed with two nominees for said office. A motion regularly passed providing that the nominee for president who received the smaller vote should be vice president. E. D. Claar was the only nominee for secretary and C. R. Drenning the only nominee for treasurer. Mr. Claar and Mr. Drenning were elected by acclamation. A ballot for president resulted in 25 votes for H. C. Dick and 16 for L. L. Snyder. Mr. Dick was therefore elected president with Mr. Snyder as vice president.

Mr. Snyder, the retiring chairman, then introduced Mr. Dick, the new chairman, who in a few well chosen words thanked the members of the Association for the honor conferred, after which he introduced Simon H. Sell, Esq., of Bedford, who made the principal address of the forenoon session. He explained how we are wasting money by use of bad roads. He illustrated the fact that the old way of road making is a failure and that supervisors should experiment with other methods until some good method or methods are found profitable. He urged them to sacrifice self interest for benefit of public good.

Emory D. Claar responded with a few remarks on the correlation of good roads with other industries.

A. B. Ross, Esq., of the Department of Agriculture gave a very interesting talk to the supervisors on road construction. Mr. Ross explained how to shape the dirt road and keep it in repair for less than one-third of the present cost and said that the roads would remain in good condition with little expense after they were properly shaped. C. R. Drenning, who is acquainted with Mr. Ross' methods of road making supported the statements of Mr. Ross. Convened 1:30 p. m.

Messrs. McCracken and Boyer, representatives of the Gallion Iron Works, were introduced by Chairman Dick. Each responded with an interesting talk on observations they had made of roads in Western Pennsylvania.

C. W. Crisman, representative of the State Highway Department, then addressed the supervisors, taking for his subject "What the Department is doing for the Supervisors." He gave several examples in Bedford County wherein the Department had saved considerable expense to the township. He told the supervisors to call for the assistance of the Department at any time, in any matter and said Department would be very glad to help them.

E. B. Rodgers of Huntingdon County was introduced by the chairman. Mr. Rodgers addressed the convention in the interest of a Good Roads Day for Pennsylvania, said day to be May 26, 1915.

W. K. Bechtel, supervisor of Bloomfield, obtained the floor and spoke on Economy but Efficiency in Road Building. He was followed on the same subject by Supervisors Hyde, Hill and Drenning.

Chairman Dick appointed the following committees: Executive Committee, W. K. Bechtel, Lee Foreman, C. R. Drenning, L. L. Snyder and Samuel Fork. Resolution Committee, L. L. Snyder, George Riddle, John S. Guyer and J. M. Henry.

On motion of W. K. Bechtel and C. W. Chappel the following resolution was adopted: The maintenance of our roads in the best possible condition for travel is of paramount importance to all citizens. Talk will not accomplish this. It requires work actually done on the roads as demonstrated in Washington County where 5,000 men, women and children voluntarily gave their service for one day for better roads. Reports show more than $11,915 worth of work actually done.

Believing therefore, that a greater working interest in road improvement will be secured and an active enthusiasm created by a State Wide Roads Day, we, the members of Bedford County Association of Supervisors, heartily endorse such a movement and authorize our president to appoint a suitable committee to unite with representatives of other organizations and with individuals to take active steps to form a County Good Roads Association for the purpose of organizing and promoting a State Wide Roads Day.

And be it Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to his Excellency, Gov. Martin G. Brumbaugh, as a manifestation of our active interest in better roads for Pennsylvania, and that he be requested to issue a proclamation to all good citizens of the State calling upon them to lend themselves to the success of the State Wide Good Roads Day, May 26, 1915.

And we further suggest that the Governor be requested to act as the Executive and to assume the responsibility of the direction of the State Wide Good Roads Day.

The Executive Committee presented the next program for the consideration of the convention. A motion carried to adopt it was read. A motion also carried to publish the Tentative Rules and Regulations in at least four newspapers of Bedford County.

On motion of W. K. Bechtel and J. A. Finnegan the following resolutions were adopted:

1. Resolved that we, the supervisors of Bedford County, in our second annual convention, beg to acknowledge the kindness of the County Commissioners in granting the use of the Court House for the purpose of holding our convention.

2. Be it resolved that we tender thanks to S. H. Sell, Esq., for his kind and enthusiastic address of welcome, also to E. D. Claar, Esq., for response to same.

3. Be it resolved that we accept with thanks the thoughtfulness of the Highway Department in sending their representatives to the aid of said Association.

4. Resolved that a copy of these resolutions be placed on the minutes and given to all persons concerned.

L. L. Snyder, John S. Guyer, E. W. Riddle, I. M. Henry, Committee.

A motion carried to publish the minutes and proceedings of the convention. The roll call showed forty-six supervisors attending the convention. There being no further business before the convention, the certificates of attendance were issued, and the convention adjourned at 3:45 p. m.

Are We Vandals?

I heard a lady say: "If we had the Coliseum of Rome in Bedford some one would tear it down or burn it down." I cannot believe that. But if we had Monticello, the old Virginia homestead of Thomas Jefferson, in Bedford, I sincerely believe some vandal would get possession of it, and alter the roof, change the windows, build a scroll-work porch around it and paint it red.

The vandal and his artist's wife would want to improve the property and bring it up-to-date. The Standard Dictionary says a vandal is anyone who willfully or ignorantly destroys or disfigures what is beautiful, venerable, or artistic.

Don't be a vandal.—Phoebe Peters.

Interesting Address

Rev. K. A. Bishara's talk on "The Women of Syria" at the meeting of the suffrage party in the L. T. L. room last Tuesday evening was highly appreciated by a large audience. His description of Syrian life, its customs, education and of its lace and silk making, was very interesting.

Although Rev. Bishara left Syria when he was eighteen, he has not forgotten that the women of his country are "pretty and tender hearted."

Comm. 1915

Catarrh Caused By a Germ

How to Destroy the Germ and End Disease.

To cure catarrh so it won't come back you must, according to a noted authority, first drive from your body the millions of germs that are flourishing in the inner recesses of your nose and throat and are causing the disease.

There is a preparation which does this called Hyomei (pronounced High-o-mei). Hyomei is a germ killing, vaporized air formed from the purest oil of Eucalyptus combined with other healing and antiseptic ingredients. You breathe Hyomei through the mouth and nose by means of a little hard rubber inhaler which druggists furnish with it. This medicated germicidal air penetrates into every fold and crevice of the mucous membrane of your nose and throat, kills the catarrh germs that lodge there, soothes, reduces and heals the swollen inflamed membranes, stops the discharge and opens up the clogged nose and air passages in a truly wonderful way. F. W. Jordan, Jr., and many other leading druggists in Bedford and vicinity sell Hyomei with the positive guarantee that it must cure catarrh or that the money paid for it will be refunded.—Adv. 19 Mar. 2t.

Grangers Entertain

The first Wednesday evening of each month Bedford Grange renders a special program.

The entertainment March 3rd was interesting, instructive, entertaining and highly appreciated by a full house. The consensus of opinion was, that it was the best of all our entertainments.

The ship purchasing bill was discussed by Joseph Donahoe and others. Should it become a law it would give better shipping facilities to United States.

Recitation by Miss Ling was much appreciated and applauded.

The Canning Factory was discussed by A. J. Shaffer, J. C. Roberts, S. U. Troutman and J. Donahoe.

Solo by Miss Moore was well rendered.

Mrs. Joseph Donahoe read a very interesting essay, How to Amuse, Entertain and Keep the Children on the Farm.

H. E. Miller's solo was classical.

Is the World Getting Better Morally, Spiritually or Otherwise was opened by Mrs. J. C. Roberts with a well prepared paper, that the world is getting better, followed by Mrs. Charles Koontz with the argument that each year is improving.

Miss Mollie Anderson produced argument that it is getting worse. Rev. E. A. G. Hermann said: He read Darwin and Huxley on evolution, that he believed that all things work out by evolution.

There appears to be more evil, as every crime is published in the daily papers in the most exciting form. But Christianity for the last century has gained by leaps and bounds. It appears the world has been sleeping for centuries and just recently gotten awake.

Several suggestions were made for the good of the order.

Queries were good and appropriate. The dialogue by twelve members was well played and hugely enjoyed by all.

Wednesday evening, April 7, will be our next special program. Every member of the Grange is requested to be present, as very important business will be brought before the house: Wednesday evening, April 7.

How and When to Spray Fruit Trees and What Solution to Use was discussed by C. A. Wertz, Rose and others.

Chickens for Profit by Joe Donahoe and A. A. Hyde.

Famous Aviator Meets Death

Sunday afternoon death came to Lincoln Beachy, world famous aviator, when he dropped through the air 2,500 feet before thousands of spectators at the Panama Pacific International Exposition at San Francisco, Cal.

The accident happened when the wings of his new monoplane collapsed while he was attempting to right the machine after a perpendicular drop through a space of several hundred feet.

The stress on the new monoplane was too great and one of the wings was seen to fly up. In a flash the second wing gave way and the crippled machine fell.

There was no chance for escape, although Beachy and his monoplane landed in the waters of San Francisco Bay. The force of the fall was so great that the machine and its daring pilot were buried in the mud of the bay in forty feet of water. After a two hours' search Beachy was found entangled in the wires of the wrecked machine.

Pennsylvania Suffragists to "Boost" Peace

Harrisburg, March 15.—Mrs. Frank M. Roessing, president of the Pennsylvania Woman Suffrage Association, is one of the signers of the Call to hold Peace meetings in this State during the month of April. In response to a request to lend the suffragists' support to that movement Mrs. Roessing wrote the appended letter to Mrs. Samuel Semple of Titusville, who is organizing the Peace meetings:

"I am heartily with you in the effort to have constructive peace work done, because that is one of the basic principles of the Woman Suffrage movement. I will lend whatever influence I have toward this end in every way possible."

The program for the Pennsylvania Peace meetings will be announced later.

Imbertown

March 16—Levi Imber was quite ill last week. He took turpentine in mistake for cough medicine.

John H. Imber and wife spent Sunday in Morrison's Cove.

Mrs. Joseph Heming is on the sick list.

John Bergstresser and wife spent over Sunday night with Jacob Yont.

Society Makes Itself Useful

A dispatch from Hot Springs, Va., the famous winter resort, notes that society women are promoting the "Made in America" movement. "Independence blue," and various fabrics of cotton or other American material are being worn by social leaders. It is an example that should be widely followed.

The influence which women of social prominence might exert in this direction is enormous. It would be such an easy thing for the social leaders in cities or towns to pass around the word that it is strictly "the thing" to wear American grown and manufactured fabrics this season.

The purchases made by such women easily become a matter of public note. Clerks talk about it to all their customers. The idea spreads from circle to circle and clique to clique. It is the easiest thing in the world to start a popular fad—for those in the seats of social power. Wearing American made goods could be made so popular in this country within six months, that women would be almost ashamed to have it known that they bought imported stuffs.

People are governed in their daily purchases by sentiment. There has been a vague feeling for many years that foreign made goods were better. In some cases they may be cheaper, yet perhaps the principal motive for the preference has been the feeling that they are more artistic or stylish. Yet America has the brightest, most hustling business men in the world. It seems absurd to suppose that they let trade drift out of their hands by making an inferior article.

The use of American products, in so far as reasonably possible, would be a move of real patriotism. It would help the home cotton grower and manufacturer and makers of all American textile fabrics, whose business has been upset by the war and other causes. It would put bread in the mouths of hungry families all over the country, and help bring back a high range of prosperity.

Farmers and Advertising

The following actual happening came to the ears of the writer the other day. A physician with a large and growing family decided to move out into the country to save expenses. In order to help out on his income, he started in poultry raising. He had had no experience whatever at it, and the farmers of the neighborhood laughed at him. They thought he would soon retire from the competition, with more experience, and fewer dollars.

The doctor however made quite a study of scientific poultry raising. One of his ideas was to use printer's ink freely. He inserted with his deliveries of eggs a printed circular telling the public about his methods. He emphasized the cleanliness and sanitary condition of his poultry houses. He spoke of his care to feed the fowls a well balance ration of both grain and vegetable food. He told of the care taken to sort the eggs for size, color, and cleanliness, and he guaranteed a given weight per dozen.

The farmers of the town were selling their eggs to the country store for a small price. Probably the store had to sell to a wholesaler, and they may have had to go through several hands. The doctor, selling at a little better price than the farmers were getting at the store, soon picked up a good trade in the nearest large town.

In a short time he was cleaning up the whole product of his poultry yard at better prices than the men were getting who had monkeyed with chicken raising all their lives.

Probably his simple little printed statement of his methods had more to do with it than anything else. No doubt many of the old farmers had equally good methods. But, they took no pains to tell the public about them. It makes little difference how good a man's methods are, how well produced his goods are, how low they are selling, if he never takes any pains to tell the public about it.

The moral is too obvious. Any farmer who raises staples like eggs, butter, vegetables, and whose food products are attractive, can get all the business he wants at good prices in the nearest large town, by spending a little money on advertising.

Game Destruction

There are 5,000,000 hunters in the United States. This rather astonishing statement was made the past week to the national conference on American game breeding and preserving held at New York. It is no wonder that game is extinct in so large a part of this country.

It has sometimes been thought that strict game laws are not democratic. Every farmer's boy cherishes the privilege of getting out with his gun. A hunter's license law, with a small fee, looks aristocratic to the farmer, creating a privileged class. Most men, to get a good bag, have to travel many miles and run up an expense bill of railroad fares and hotel charges. That is not a democratic condition of things.

This country was originally rich with all kinds of wild game. Every variety had its value. Most of them added each an element of beauty, color, and life to the woods. The majority were useful as food for the human race. Then comes man, blazing away regardless of times and seasons. Today many of our finest varieties are extinct or practically so. Man is a spendthrift in a sense, who pollutes his rivers, burns up his forests, and destroys the wild life that might serve and cheer him. When game was abundant hunters were satisfied to get out after the real vermin of the woods, the varieties that are destructive. But if foxes and raccoons are exterminated in a given section today, the more ignorant hunters at least will get out after song birds that protect the farmers' crops from insects.

The delegates who gathered to the conference above referred to should do something more than pass resolutions. They should appoint themselves a national committee to work in every State for strict game laws, strict enforcement of them, and for the propagation of many of the fine species of wild life that have been wiped out.

Healthy Hair Soft and Fluffy

Beautiful hair does not just happen but is always a matter of care and proper nourishment of the hair roots. No matter if your hair is falling out, stringy, lifeless, and full of dandruff, Parisian Sage, an inexpensive tonic sold by F. W. Jordan, Jr., is all that is ever needed. It nourishes the hair roots and stimulates the growth of new hair. All dandruff is entirely removed with one application, and itching scalp and falling hair cease; your hair will be bright, vigorous, soft and fluffy.

Whether your hair is oily, dry or brittle, Parisian Sage immediately removes the cause and by toning up the scalp quickly restores the hair to its original brilliancy and vigor.

This delightful tonic is a real necessity and will not fail to give a lasting benefit to your hair and scalp.

A Wonderful Healing Influence in Kidney Troubles

A year and a half ago I was taken with a severe attack of kidney trouble that pained me to such an extent that morphine had to be given me. Was attended by a doctor who pronounced it as Stone in the Bladder and prescribed Lithia Water. I took Lithia Water and Tablets for some time and received no relief from them. I stopped taking medicines for some time, later having some Swamp-Root in the house I decided to try it and felt much relieved. While taking the second bottle commenced to pass Gravel in urine until I had passed in all at least a half dozen or more and have not suffered the slightest since and in all have taken one bottle and a half and feel very grateful to Swamp-Root.

Yours very truly,

H. W. SPINKS, Camp Hill, Ala.

The Panther of Rocky Creek

You'd almost think, from a "look in" at the March Sports Afield, that spring is here, that the violets are peeping through the dead leaves and that the bluebirds and robins are on the wing; certainly that the fish are biting, as this number contains some beautiful pictures to start the angler to "fooling around" with his rods and reels. In Sunset Camps and Trails we have three more interesting chapters, wherein the scene shifts from the Texas mesquite plains to the swamps and bayous of Louisiana, with some thrilling accounts of duck and jack-snipe shooting. On the Upper Des Moines will please every fisherman who is fortunate enough to read it. In the Panther of Rocky Creek we are given a stirring tale of pioneer days—one of the truest-to-life stories we have ever read. Any American youth who can read this story without a thrill of admiration for the boy Josh Hughes would certainly be a curiosity. A Louisiana Duck Hunt will please all who love good shooting and good eating; On the Upper Tippecanoe will interest all fishermen; while Six Weeks in Jackson's Hole will prove a delight to everyone. The Wreck of the Asia, An Ancient Blackfoot Legend and Our Hunt in the Ozarks are all strong stories, with an appeal to sportsmen generally. Our Unpreparedness as a Nation, by S. D. Barnes, will especially interest all Americans who want to see the United States occupy its rightful place among the great nations of the world. In fact, the March Sports Afield appeals not alone to hunters, fishermen and Nature lovers, but to thoughtful readers of all classes.

Suffragists Adopt Parody on "Comin' Thro' The Rye"

Harrisburg, March 15.—With suffrage and local option occupying most of the limelight in legislative circles these days, the suffrage version of "Comin' Thro' The Rye" is attracting considerable interest. It runs as follows:

If a lassie wants the ballot
To help to run the town,
And a lassie gets the ballot,
Need a laddie frown?
Many a laddie has the ballot
Not so bright as I,
And many a laddie votes his ballot
Overcome with rye.

If a lassie works for wages,
Toiling all the day,
And her work the laddie's equals,
Give her equal pay.
If a body pays the taxes,
Surely you'll agree
That a body earns the franchise,
Whether he or she.

Scribner's Magazine

In Colonel Goethal's second article in the April Scribner, he tells of the "Labor Problems Connected with the Work." Thomas Nelson Page, United States Ambassador to Italy, has written an account of "The Earthquake in Abruzzi." The "Fighting in the Carpathians," as described by J. F. J. Archibald in this issue, is quite different from the motor war in Germany and France. The illustrations are from his own photographs. John Galsworthy's novel, "The Freelanders," reaches a most interesting stage this time. The frontispiece of the April Scribner is a reproduction in color of one of the most beautiful of the famous Fragonard panels owned by J. P. Morgan and recently sold to H. C. Frick

How Much Longer Will You Pay?

For four years in Pennsylvania, for two in New Jersey, the Full Crew Law has had the acid test of every-day experience.

What has it accomplished?

Five and one-half million dollars have been wasted by the railroads, and in no single instance has the Full Crew Law, that compels this waste, contributed one jot to the safety of the traveling public.

In proportion to the great body of railroad employees, the number of extra men forced on the railroads by the Full Crew bill is small. But their pay is high, higher, in fact, than the wages really earned by most other classes of employees.

It costs the railroads $2566 in one year to pay the superfluous trainmen on one passenger train operating between New York and Pittsburgh.

That's but a single item, taken at random from the tremendous bill which directly or indirectly each citizen has to pay.

But the people are now determined to pay this needless bill no longer.

If you have not yet voiced your personal demand that the waste of this money that should be spent for your better and safer service be stopped, a letter to your elected representative at Harrisburg and Trenton is your most effective method.

The Creed of the Country

Rural life is coming into its own and country life is beginning to be appreciated again after several decades disfavor and neglect. The following creed, which being adopted as the slogan of various boys' and girls' clubs throughout the rural sections of the United States, shows that the thought of life in the country is being directed into its natural channels. "I believe that the country which God made is more beautiful than the city which man made; that life out of doors and in touch with the earth is the natural life of man. I believe that work is work wherever I find it, but the work with nature is more inspiring than work with the most intricate machinery. I believe that the dignity of labor depends not only upon what you do, but on how you do it; that opportunity comes to a boy in the city, and that life is larger and freer and happier on the farm than in the town."

BOILING WATER AS

A DISINFECTANT

Little Talks on Health and Hygiene by Samuel G. Dixon, M. D. Measles, scarlet fever, diphtheria and various other communicable diseases are perhaps most readily transmitted by the discharge from the nose and mouth of the patient. When the patient is cared for in the home and some member of the family must act as nurse, it is necessary for the protection of whoever acts in this capacity and for those who come in contact with the patient that the utmost care should be exercised in handling them.

Instead of the handkerchiefs commonly used for this purpose the patient should be supplied with cheese cloth or paper napkins and in a sufficient quantity so that they can be handled with comfort. Those which have been used and discarded should be handled only by the nurse and immediately burned. After handling such materials the hands should be thoroughly disinfected in a bichloride of mercury or other good antiseptic solution.

The dishes and eating utensils which are used for the sufferer should in no instance be washed with those used in the household but should be placed in a receptacle kept just outside the sick room door containing a disinfecting solution of cresols or formaldehyde and then placed in boiling water and allowed to boil for ten to fifteen minutes.

The sheets and bed clothes which will invariably be covered with fine particles of sputum when the patient coughs or sneezes, should be placed in a tub containing one of the three disinfecting solutions and allowed to soak for three hours after which they should be boiled for one hour.

When there is a sufferer from tuberculosis in a household they should not use the dishes and eating utensils which the other members of the family do, but should be supplied with individual utensils. These should always be first boiled and then washed separately.

These are fundamental precautions in the handling of communicable disease which can only be disregarded at the peril of the nurse and the entire household. Unquestionably the transmission of disease from one member of a family to another in many cases is due to the failure to follow out this method of procedure consistently.

The Housewife and Her Bread

The high cost of flour and advance in price of bread in many places has started some discussion in the women's clubs and the homes as to whether women today should make their own bread or not. To many of the older housewives, buying it from the baker or the grocer seems rather shiftless. In their industrious creed and practice the bread board and the kneading trough lay at the foundation of good housekeeping. A bride who could not manipulate the rolling pin should never have been married.

Many of the domestic economists of the present day believe that home bread making is fast going the way of the home curing of meats or grinding meal, which scarcely exist today. As they look at it, the food manufacturer saves enough by buying materials in large quantities to make up for the cost of the labor, so that the housewife gets little or perhaps nothing whatever for her laborious hours in the pantry.

The old style baker often thought first of the number of loaves he could produce out of a barrel of flour. The baker's bread one used to see thus often had a certain spongy and elastic quality. It seemed as if the material had been expended in some way, to make it seem light, and giving an erroneous impression of the extent of its food value.

Good home made bread never conveyed this impression, and has a certain firmness that gives a pleasant feeling of substantial quality.

The greatly increased sale of bread prepared outside of the home must have been due to a realization by food producers, that they must please the public by a good eating quality. The old time home made bread, with good butter, was very appetizing. A hungry boy would eat it ravenously, asking for no sauces to make it more toothsome.

During recent years bakers have been learning from the arts of the old time housewife, and perhaps bettering her. A good business is the result. If the producer makes it clear that his methods are strictly clearly, he will find all the trade he wants.

NO SHORTAGE OF FOODSTUFFS LIKELY

The Department of Agriculture issued the following statement recently:

The 1914 wheat crop of the United States was estimated to be 891,000,000 bushels. The estimated surplus carried over from the 1913 crop was about 76,000,000 bushels. There was, therefore, a total available supply of 967,000,000 bushels. As the normal annual per capita consumption of wheat in the United States is about 5.3 bushels, 520,000,000 bushels should meet our normal domestic requirements for food; in addition, 90,000,000 bushels are required annually for seedling. Six hundred and ten million bushels, therefore, should

"A few years ago we considered that we were doing well if we cured 10 per cent. of the cases of Brain Fatigue and Nervous Prostration brought to us, but since the introduction of Rezistol into our hospital we cure more than 90 per cent. of all the cases in its various forms brought to us. It builds new tissues, gives new energy, new life, new blood and strength to any part of the body attacked by these diseases."

Rezistol is a powerful tonic nourishing food medicine, composed of valuable tonic stimulants obtained from vegetable drugs. Rezistol contains no narcotics or other dangerous drugs which merely deaden pain temporarily but give no permanent relief or cure the cause of disease.

Rezistol is a powerful body builder and blood maker; it is the best remedy known to the medical profession to enrich thin, watery blood and supply new rich blood to the whole body.

It will be found a most valuable remedy in cases of over stimulation in which the excessive use of liquor causes depression, dullness of the faculties or intoxication; it counteracts the depressing effects and restores the system to its normal condition.

supply the normal domestic demand. This would leave a surplus of 357,000,000 bushels. Of this surplus, about 210,000,000 bushels were exported by January 30. This left 147,000,000 bushels, or 40,000,000 bushels more than our average annual export for the past five years, for export between February 1 and the appearance of the new crop, or for carrying over into the next crop year. The amount is sufficient to permit the export of nearly 1,000,000 bushels a day until July 1, before which time the new crop will begin to be available. This is about the average recent exportation.

The large demand for our wheat arises from the fact that there was an estimated world's shortage of over 400,000,000 bushels outside of the United States, from the fact that the Russian exportable surplus of 100,000,000 bushels is not available generally, and from the fact that the belligerent nations are eager to secure food supplies. If it were not for these things, we should be discussing ways and means of disposing of our tremendous surplus of food products.

As has been stated, the new American crop will begin to appear before July. The Argentine crop is now coming on the market. It is estimated that from that source there will be available 100,000,000 bushels. A surplus of 75,000,000 bushels or more from India will be available in May and June. The increase in the fall-sown wheat acreage of the United States in 1914 was 11.1 per cent., or over 4,000,000 acres; in the Northern Hemisphere generally the acreage of winter wheat shows an increase of from 3 to 33 per cent., as follows:

	Per cent.
Italy	3
Denmark	5
Switzerland	10
United Kingdom	10
United States	11
India	22
Canada	33

But suppose a shortage of wheat should develop in the next three months, what would be the situation? There is a great surplus in other food crops in the United States, a number of which can be used as substitutes. Wheat does not constitute more than 12 per cent. of the normal diet, about the same as poultry and eggs. Meat and dairy products constitute 48 per cent.; vegetables, 11 per cent.; fruits, nuts, sugar, fish, and other items the remaining 19 per cent. There are larger supplies of corn and other grains, meat animals, dairy products, potatoes, and fruit at the opening of 1915 than for many years. The most important competing pro-

Experiences of Bedford Citizens Are Easily Proven to be Facts.

The most superficial investigation will prove that the following statement from a resident of Bedford is true. Read it and compare evidence from Bedford people with testimony of strangers living so far away you cannot investigate the facts of the case. Many more citizens of Bedford endorse Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. John Harnishfager, 313 E. John St., Bedford, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills for backaches and kidney weakness and they have benefited me more than any other remedy I have ever tried. ducts are corn and potatoes. This is shown by the fact that while the normal consumption of wheat is 5.3 bushels, in Maine it is only 4.7 bushels and in Michigan 5. In the wheat-growing States, where wheat is abundant, such as Minnesota, the average is 7.2, whereas in the South, where corn is much used, the average is 4 bushels. Normally about 3 per cent. of the corn crop is consumed as food. Of our total crop about 80,000,000 bushels would be used for food, the remainder for other purposes. The remainder could be used for foods and substitutes used for animals. The potato production in the United States averages 3.8 bushels per capita. This year the available supply is 4.1 bushels. The average price of meat animals was 7 per cent. cheaper in January than a year ago, butter 2 per cent. lower, the price of chickens slightly lower, of potatoes 35 per cent. lower, and of apples it was 37 per cent. lower.

It would seem that the United States is not likely to be threatened with a shortage of foodstuffs.

Canvassing for Sympathy

All kinds of schemes are worked on the public for raising money. Perhaps more than usual appear at a time when business is slow and more or less people unemployed. One hesitates to condemn any honest work. Yet many little enterprises are so clearly non-productive that sensible people may well hesitate to undertake them.

For instance, take the annual army of young men and women who start out as agents, for books and other articles, frequently giving the excuse that they wish to earn money for an education.

It would be interesting if one could know how many of these young hopefuls acquire in this way the funds that they desire. Frequently it seems practically a case of begging. In such cases they know they would have no chance of succeeding in it as a purely business proposition. By suggesting the motive of sympathy for a young person, they do get some help that they could not always get on the basis of the attractiveness or the book or other articles offered.

It is an open question if it is wise for young people to canvas on this basis. In the long run they will win out in this world, only by offering people the things they want at a price that competes successfully with other sellers. To raise money for an education on any other basis must give them a false idea of life, that success is to be won by means other than merit.

There are plenty of ways for ambitious young people to earn money. Let them offer the world some service that it really wants. Able bodied young men can always work their way through college by taking jobs on farms, and girls by waiting on hotel tables, selling food, or performing domestic service. In such ways they render a real service, and have the self respecting feeling that they are asking for no sympathy, but are standing on their own merits.

CARNEGIE STEEL PLANT BUSY

First Time in Nearly Two Years That Every Department Has Been in Operation.

Every department of the Homestead works of the Carnegie Steel Company was put in operation March 8 for the first time in nearly two years and officials declared that orders lately received for structural materials and ship and armor plate assured activity at the plants for months. The open hearth department and the plate mills were started March 7 and the structural mills the following day, resulting in 4,000 men being put to work.

Orders received for pipe for the southwestern oil and gas fields have resulted in more activity at the McKeesport plant of the National Tube Company. It is said that the open hearth plants of the Edgar Thompson Company will also soon reopen. —Harrisburg Star Independent.

The Gazette is the leading newspaper of Bedford County and its circulation is far ahead of any of its contemporaries. As an advertising medium it is one of the best in this part of the state.

Gazette Publishing Co.,
Bedford, Pa.

FRIDAY MORNING, MAR. 19, 1915.

Owing to the crowded condition of our columns this week we were compelled to hold quite a number of our weekly letters, as well as a large amount of other matter, all of which will appear in next week's paper.

Woman's suffrage will make the campaign lively next fall. The Legislature has just passed an amendment to the constitution giving women the right to vote, and next November the people will have an opportunity to vote on this proposed amendment. If it should carry at the election and pass the next Legislature then it becomes a law.

Nine counties of Pennsylvania and eighteen States of the United States are dry territory now. The counties are: Mifflin, Greene, Bedford, Lawrence, Juniata, Huntingdon, Venango, Tioga and Perry. The States are: Maine, Kansas, North Dakota, Georgia, Oklahoma, Mississippi, North Carolina, Tennessee, West Virginia, Virginia, Oregon, Washington, Colorado, Arizona, Alabama, Arkansas, Idaho, Iowa. It is going fast. At the rate it has disappeared in the last five years, it will be entirely illegal in 1920.

Howard Blackburn, our Assemblyman, is all puffed up now since he had a bath of milk and honey from some one last week. It was just showered upon him until it dripped from his ear lobes, from the point of his nose, the angle of his chin and ran in streamlets from the ends of his fingers in a pool on the floor—wasted. The writer praised the policy of the editorial work of Mr. Blackburn and violated the policy most extravagantly in the very article in which he sounded forth the praise. New standards were set in the eighteen months and he breaks off those standards immediately. Something fishy concerning that praise. Couldn't have come from the heart.

HON. WILLIAM J. BRYAN, THE EXHORTER

On last Monday night in Philadelphia the Hon. William Jennings Bryan, Secretary of State, proved to the people that he is the greatest exhorter in the United States, if not in the world.

He drew an audience of 30,000 people, 10,000 of which were unable to get into the immense tabernacle built for "Billy" Sunday. At the close of his address, which was on the subject of total abstinence from the use of intoxicating liquors, he called for volunteers to sign pledges to quit using liquor in any form and 15,000 made the pledge. So enthusiastic was the audience that they rushed to the platform in hurrahs for Bryan and Temperance. No man has ever drawn such a crowd and no man has ever stirred his audience to so clear a point of decision. Bryan is a master in oratory and not only does he talk against the evil of drinking but he is a living example of a total abstainer. He acts as well as he speaks his convictions. The temperance forces could not get a greater man to represent their principles for president in 1916.

First Great Clash Between Europe and the Turks. For two hundred years Europe made gigantic efforts to reconquer the Holy City. The brave combined armies of England, France, Germany, etc., backed by the whole Christian continent, marched upon the Holy Land, to deliver the sepulcher of our Savior from the hands of the Moslems. And they did it in a very thrilling manner. Why they did it, how they did it, and how and why they lost it again, together with many other things of great interest will be plainly told, next Sunday evening (7:30) at the Presbyterian Church. Don't stay at home! Come and get the full benefit of this course of sermonic lectures on "Turkey in the European War," which will help you to realize the significance of the present conflict at the Dardanelles, between the Cross and the Crescent.

Paint Now

If you ought to have painted last year and waited, how much do you think you made?

You'll buy an extra gallon this year. There's $5 or $6 for paint and labor. You think you won't, but you will; you can't stretch paint.

It is always so: the longer you wait, the more paint and wages. Besides what paint is for. What is it for?

Uncle Sam has three herds of Dairy Cows. In one herd the cows are a bill of expense and an actual loss to the owner of $7.25 per head per year. Another herd gives an average profit of $7.55 each per year. The third herd gives an average profit of $26.82 each per year. This means that the feed and everything were bought in the market and the labor for attending was calculated as well. It is demonstrated that a cow must yield at least 5,000 pounds of milk and 200 pounds of butter fat annually before she is worth her keeping. If that is true, nine-tenths of the farmers of Bedford County are keeping cows at actual loss to themselves. They are paying to have the possession of a cow. To keep a cow that does not bring you more than $10 or $15 a year profit is very small business. Better weigh the milk from your herd and buy a Babcock tester, which will not cost you much, and test her ability for butter fat and if she does not produce the profit she poses of her immediately. A good cow should pay for strong ration, and proper care and housing. If she cannot measure up to the test, ship her post haste.

Good weather is to be in fact until about March 24. At that time a cold wave is to come from the Pacific slope, starting March 21. Central States 22 and 23 and Eastern States about 25. It is predicted to be the heaviest storm of the winter and although late in the season for real severe storms and continuous cold yet it promises to be one which will freeze vegetation much farther south than usual. Watch and wait and be prepared.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Our people were very much surprised last Wednesday evening to learn of the marriage of one of our young men, Walter Zeigler, and Miss Ethel Deckerhoof of Braddock. The couple came to the home of the groom Wednesday evening and Thursday evening the band turned out and gave them a rousing serenading. Mr. Zeigler was the leader of the Springhope Cornet Band and will be very much missed as he was an active member. He was the first to be married since the organization of the band in October 1912. Mr. and Mrs. Zeigler will locate in Braddock. We wish the young couple success.

A Summary of Spring Tendencies

Fabrics for the Suit, Waist and Afternoon Frock

MULL POKE BONNETS

New York, March 15, 1915.

The buyers have returned from Paris. Almost all the Parisian dress-makers held their openings, and the buyers bought their models and hurried them to the steamers to get them well on their way before the maritime blockade should be enforced.

The New York openings occur immediately after the Parisian openings, merely giving the buyers and their booty a chance to arrive.

A brief summary of what is shown from Paris in our openings here in New York are:

Skirts are short and full, coats are long, three-quarters and very short. Narrow lower skirt sections are placed beneath a wide overskirt which almost covers this lower section which is often of chiffon or lace—an odd but effective feature of summer modes. Simplicity is the market tendency in all these new gowns. The colors are less vivid, and in a crude khaki, beige, sand and the numerous plum colors.

The New Basque Waist and Full Skirt

The high waistline and the normal one has taken the place of the moyen age line in many of the models, although the long line is often expressed in the girdle which comes down over the hips.

The short round and pointed basques are combined with fluffy, frilled skirts. In my illustration is shown a dress made of striped taffeta. The short waist is round with a slight point directly in the front. The square Callot neck is a very much more becoming line at the neck than the straight Dutch or round neck. The full skirt is especially attractive and "summery" with ruffles, which dip in the front and back, and are about knee-length at the sides.

For some time the corset-makers have been making their corsets to curve in a little at the sides, and give the slightly smaller waist effect, and then they added a little to the height of the corset and added inserts of elastic to the backs and fronts. Some of the very newest models which are being sent out to try the market are undoubtedly pinching the fronts a trifle. It is hard to tell whether this is a forerunner of what we may expect in small waists, or merely a compromise in order to take care of such a contingency if it should suddenly come upon us.

Parisian sketches show a strong tendency toward straight girdles, which are worn at the normal waistline. These are more becoming to the waist than is "nipped" in a trifle than the one which is straight up and down.

The dainty muslin frocks, which are already being made for summer, have three-inch belts of black velvet ribbon.

The high collar is very smart, but Paris has swerved a trifle from her allegiance to it and is wearing one which is high in the back and open in the front. One very pretty collar which I noticed was a straight band of batiste buttoned in front with tiny buttons, and, around the top, four triangular pieces of the same edged with narrow lace overlapping one another around the neck and falling over the high, boned band.

Lace and taffeta are combined a great deal for afternoon frocks. One charming dress of taffeta is four yards wide at the hem. The waist is tight, and from the waistline begins a band of the same color, which winds in spiral effect around the hips and down—down to the hem, getting wider at each turn.

The suits being strictly tailored in their style require suitable materials. Serge, gabardine, gabardine voile, which is the lightest-weight fabric obtainable for tailored suits, and a new fabric called grosgrain serge are among the smartest materials shown, as well as the most serviceable.

Linens in bright stripes, almost like the awning stripes of a year ago, are very smart for waists and novelty suits. Chiffon, voile, organdy and handkerchief linen are the fabrics, which are used mostly for the season's blouses, which are, of course, very popular owing to the tailored suits.

Silks come in serges and coverts, and are more than charming. The serge, of course, reminds one very forcefully of grosgrain in a finer quality, but the covert is indeed a new departure and beautiful in its texture. A new satin called Georgetowne satin from its originator is being used a great deal for hats. It is a coarsely woven satin, and comes in black, tan and mulberry, with ribbons to match. Speaking of ribbons and ribbon velvets, there are beautiful flowered ribbons of all widths, checks that beggar description and velvet woven with checked backs, all very gay and brilliant to go with the light clothes that are to have great popularity this season, and so the wheel of fashion and some of the factories go on and on forever.

For the frocks for warm weather there are quantities of voiles and crepes, in plain colors and figured, which are stunning. In the illustration is a white crepe dress with an embroidered design in white, which marks the fabric off into diamonds. The simplicity of style by which it is developed is charming, indeed. The waist is round and full with a narrow round yoke of lace. The three-quarter sleeves are finished with a frill of lace. The plain full skirt is finished at the bottom with a wide flouncing of crepe with a design which matches the material.

Embroidered Crepe Accentuates the Beauty of Simple Lines

The materials for summer dresses are made with borders of color, and stripes and bars of embroidery on the plain white fabrics. There are embroidered flouncings of sheer crepe as well as narrower widths. Voile and marquisette are also used for the foundation of embroideries.

Mull, embroidered with simple buttonholed edge in blue and other colors, is used to make and to trim the charming period hats, poke-bonnets and quaint, old-fashioned leghorns, which are the novelties in millinery for summer.

The hats of tulle and chiffon with transparent brims are very smart and decidedly attractive. I saw one not long ago of tulle with a pleated crown and a brim of the tulle doubled. Particularly chic was the placing of the trimming, which consisted of two back quills running in opposite directions.

Another stunning hat of tulle, chiffon, or black lace has a brim which is really a ruffle.

The hats are really stunning and are widely different, suited to many types. There is the small hat, the military hat, the turban and the large picturesque hat, usually of leghorn, and faced with a bit of figured chiffon or cretonne.

Mark Hanna is Dead

The high-tariff Republican manufacturers who held a secret conference in Delmonico's recently with the Chairman and Secretary of the Republican National Committee, to discuss plans for the 1916 campaign, wasted their time, their railroad fare and their hotel expenses. Mark Hanna is dead. Mark Hanna Republicanism is dead. There will be no resurrection.

These gentlemen are living in memories. If the Republican party should be returned to power in 1916, it will not be their kind of Republicanism and its emblem will not be the stock-ticker. Moreover, it will not try to enact their kind of tariff. It was for their benefit and their profit that the Republican party cut its throat during the Taft Administration, and the party is not keen to repeat the experience. It was because the Republican party was their kind of Republican party that the Government of the United States was turned over to the Democratic party.

The old Bourbon protectionists neither learn nor forget. Their campaign contributions used to swing national elections, and in return for these contributions they used to write the tariff schedules. Those days are no more. They will not return. The Penroses and the Cannon and the Gallingers may linger upon the scene. They may be nominally in control of the Republican organization, but no national campaign could be won under such leadership. The rank and file of the Republican party would not follow them. The 1912 revolt had its theatrical aspects, but it was not all stage comedy. The Republican party, if it comes back to power, must be a different kind of Republican party from what was driven out of power.

The once highly protected gentlemen who think that the first duty of Congress is to legislate for their pocketbooks overestimate the power of money in politics. Money can do much but it cannot do everything. Otherwise they and Wall Street would still be in control of the Government.

The Delmonico conferees, however generous their campaign contributions may be, will not rehabilitate standpat Republicanism. They will not rehabilitate any kind of Republicanism. They would break the back of the most promising political organization that the mind and hand of man could devise. If they really want to do something for the Republican party, they should shut up and keep out of sight. That is the one service they are still capable of rendering.—New York World.

First Dose Ends Indigestion, Heartburn, or Gas on Stomach

The question as to how long you are going to continue a sufferer from indigestion, dyspepsia or out-of-order stomach is merely a matter of how soon you begin taking Tonaline Tablets. People with weak stomachs should take Tonaline Tablets occasionally, and there will be no more indigestion, no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach, no heartburn, sour risings, gas on stomach, or belching of undigested food, headaches, dizziness or sick stomach, and besides, what you eat will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors. All these symptoms resulting from a sour, out-of-order stomach and dyspepsia are generally relieved five minutes after taking Tonaline Tablets.

Go to your druggist and get a $1 box of Tonaline Tablets and you will always go to the table with a hearty appetite, and what you eat will taste good, because your stomach and intestines will be clean and fresh, and you will know there are not going to be any more bad nights and miserable days for you. Tonaline Tablets freshen you and make you feel like life is worth living.

Tonaline Tablets cost $1.00 for a 50 days' treatment. At druggists or mailed by American Proprietary Co., Boston, Mass.—Adv. 19 Mar 4t.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Acting Director of Sunday School Course, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.)

LESSON FOR MARCH 21

JONATHAN AND HIS ARMOR-BEARER.

LESSON TEXT—I Samuel 14:1-13. GOLDEN TEXT—Let us put on the armor of light.—Rom. 13:12.

Samuel's review of his life of integrity, his character to the Israelites, God's testimony of displeasure over their persistent desire to have a king, and Samuel's words of comfort and assurance as found in chapter 12, form an interesting connection with last Sunday's lesson. In chapter 13 we have the record of Israel again in distress and of Saul's folly in his assuming the priestly office (vv. 13, 14).

1. Saul's Distress, vv. 1-4. That Saul's disobedience, just indicated, had incurred God's displeasure, we know. It evidently had its effect upon the people also, for his army had dwindled during the intervening fifteen or eighteen years, from 330,000 (ch. 11:8) to a feeble 600 (v. 2). They were further handicapped by a lack of weapons (ch. 13:19-23). Deserted by Jehovah, by Samuel, Jehovah's priest, and by nearly all of his enthusiastic subjects (see 11:12) Saul was "in the uttermost part of Gibeon" hiding under a pomegranate tree (see vv. 11, 22 and 13:6). This may refer to his being at Rimmon (Judges 20:43-47). In this retirement Saul retains Ahiah (v. 3) as priest, thus keeping up the outward form of worship. This priest is not referred to as Jehovah's. He was a grandson of Phinehas, one of Eli's wicked sons, and as such was not to be a successor in the high priest's office (ch. 2:30-36). Such an outward form of "dead works" cannot take the place of a living faith. For Saul to consult the oracle of the Urim and Thummim worn by the priest and later to call up familiar spirits, shows his lack of spiritual apprehension. The references made to Saul's conduct (chapters 12, 13) are an indication of his character and emphasize the psalmist's words as found in Ps. 119:11, 105.

2. Jonathan's Victory, vv. 4-13. But God had one leader to whom he could speak, Jonathan, who is one of the finest and most attractive characters in the whole Bible. This episode is among the most brilliant in the history of the Israelitish nation. It was a brave deed, and an evidence of that triumphant faith shown so clearly in Jonathan's dealings with David. There seems to be a suggestion that Jonathan had lost confidence in his father, for neither he nor the people knew where Jonathan had gone. Verses 4 and 5 vividly picture the nature of the location wherein Jonathan undertook this feat. Jonathan clearly counted upon the fleshly covenant sign as ground upon which to expect help and victory over his enemies, who lacked such a sign (v. 6). The army of the Philistines had been divided into three sections (Ch. 13:17), and this gave Jonathan his opportunity. The garrison at Michmash was on the opposite side of the ravine from Geba, Saul's headquarters. Hidden by the cliffs it was quite easy to approach the Philistines. It is an interesting and enlightening conversation recorded as ensuing on that journey.

Jonathan—It may be that the Lord will work for us, for there is no restraint to the Lord to save by many or by few (v. 6).

Armorbearer—Do all that is in thine heart; behold I am with thee.

Jonathan—We will pass over, and will discover ourselves. The test, as recorded in verses 9 and 10 was a real one and a revelation of Jonathan's shrewdness. Not to be invited up by the Philistines would suggest a desire they may have had to cover up any weakness. To be asked to "come" suggests their self-confidence.

Today's Message. Two young men of faith saved a nation sunk in despair and disgrace. They inspired confidence in God and his promises. "Youth for battles, old age for counsel," but there are times that demand action more than conference and consideration. Courage is only of value, however, when based upon much training, devotion to God, the interests of others, and a clear vision. It is not a mere flash in life's pathway. Courage is contagious; Jonathan's feat set on fire the soul of a nation. Read again the roll of honor in the eleventh chapter of Hebrews. The highest courage is not physical but moral. This courage is open to all, but it is intelligent; grounded upon God's sure revelation in his word and in the person of his Son, our Lord. "And his armor-bearer after him."

Jonathan did not go alone. On the other hand it is not probable this young lad would have gone up those rocks had not Jonathan led the way; because one went before him, he was able to scale the fortress. God alone knows the heights to which we may attain, but does not ask us to go alone, nor expect us to do the impossible. The greatest heroes are not military, they are Christian heroes, who put on the Christian armor and whose "strength is the strength of ten because their hearts are pure." Such heroes are not dismayed at the contempt and sibes of the enemy.
